THE HEART of the AN/FSQ-7 air defense computer is the magnetic core memory. This memory contains over 500,000 bits of high-speed storage with an access time of six millionths of a second to any group of 32 bits. It will contain the instructions that the computer will follow during its normal operation and the data which is being correlated and processed at that time. Power module is on right, memory frame in center, memory array frame on left.

Columbia Must Pay Prevailing Wages on Bridge

Prevailing wage rates must be paid workers on Taghkanic Bridge in eastern Columbia county, the State Labor Department ruled in an important decision released Thursday.

Suit was brought about a year ago by George E. Yerry Jr., business agent of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, against the Columbia County Highway Department.

THE RULING means that Columbia county must pay workers on the bridge—since completed—the prevailing wage rate as set by the New York State Department of Labor. The workers would be paid retroactively the difference between what the county paid them and the prevailing wage rates.

It is reported that the prevailing wage rates in Columbia county average about a dollar more per hour than was actually paid to employees of the Columbia County Board of Supervisors who worked on the 72-foot bridge span.

Columbia county argued that the bridge was not an item of new construction but was simply a matter of maintenance.

A MUNICIPAL corporation must pay prevailing wage rates on public construction.

The ruling was handed down by Industrial Commissioner Isador Lubin.

A second offense by a municipal corporation is a misdemeanor or punishable by a year imprisonment or a $500 fine or both. Mr. Yerry brought suit against the Ulster County Highway Department about six years ago charging the same violation (Continued on Page 10, Col. 4)

$185,000 Awarded To Three Injured In Paltz Mishap

Verdicts totaling $185,000, the biggest in recent years in Albany County Supreme Court were returned yesterday in three accident cases arising out of injuries to three men in a Thruway accident near New Paltz on November 1, 1954.

Joseph J. Occhialino of 39 Austin avenue, Albany, was awarded $75,000. Jerry M. Parene of 90 Banker avenue, Scotia, was awarded $70,000 and Thomas M. Bucci of 4 Queens Court, Albany, $40,000. The verdicts were returned in actions arising out of a collision between a truck owned by Galloway's Garage of Newburgh, a subcontractor on Thruway construction, and driven by Emanuel Vieriro of Liptondale.

According to Edward J. Mack, attorney for Bucci and Parene, the truck was being chased by a Thruway policeman when it collided with the car driven by Occhialino. Bucci and Parene were passengers in the car. Bucci suffered a fractured hip and pelvis; Parene, fractured legs and skull and Occhialino, represented by James M. Carter, suffered fractured legs and ribs and also head injuries.

The cases were tried before Supreme Court Justice Herbert D. Hamm.

THE DISPLAY CONSOLE presents a picture of the air defense situation to operating personnel and with the aid of the buttons and switches located on the side of the consoles, Air Force personnel will make tactical decisions which in turn will be carried out automatically by the computer. From this location, the operator can request additional information from the computer, can select certain features and exclude all others, can expand his scope picture to look at a smaller area and will monitor the action of enemy planes and our own interceptors and guided missiles.

Dewey Hails Service of Nixon

New York Delegation Pledges Support to Ike

Albany, June 29 (AP)—The New York delegation to the Republican National Convention has formally pledged its support for the renomination of President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, a member of the 96-vote delegation, predicted to reporters after the meeting yesterday that Eisenhower would follow through on pre-operation plans to run again.

Of the President's plans, Dewey said: "I don't believe there is any change at all or likely to be any."

As for Nixon, Dewey said "no" when asked whether he had any reservations about renomination.

Dewey was asked whether he would support Nixon for the presidential nomination if Eisenhower should not run. The former governor replied: "I can't even open my mind to the possibility that the President won't run."

Replying to another question, Dewey said again he had "no intention of running for any office" himself.

The Eisenhower-Nixon resolution said the two had "moved America far along the road toward the goal" of lasting peace. It described Nixon as "an unusually versatile and useful vice president" and hailed his service as an "ambassador of goodwill" on foreign assignments for the President. "His greatest service in this area, we are confident, still lies before him," the resolution added.

GOP Would Cover Pension Folk by Social Security

Albany, June 29 (AP)—The legislature's Republican leaders came up with a few suggestions today on drafting legislation to combine federal social security benefits with the state retirement system.

Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck and Sen. Walter J. Mahoney said they believed action should be taken by the 1957 legislature to extend social security to workers covered by the state pension plan.

The 1956 legislature passed a Republican-drawn bill to integrate social security with state retirement benefits, but Gov. Harriman vetoed it on the

38 Killed in March On Reds in Poland

Berlin, June 29 (AP)—A bitter workers' uprising in the major Polish city of Poznan took 38 lives and left 270 wounded, Warsaw's Communist government announced today. The revolt has been crushed and today the industrial city was reported back to normal.

In the West, diplomats speculated what the effect would be on the Kremlin leaders' campaign to downgrade Stalin and ease the steel glove grip on the Soviet's satellite subjects.

The trouble exploded with a fury which recalled the uprising of East Germans of June 17, 1953, and the pro-Stalin student demonstrations in Tiflis this year when up to 100 persons were reported killed.

Western businessmen in Poznan to attend a big trade fair in the industrial city of 300,000 were amazed eyewitnesses to the violent outburst that began at 7 a. m. and evidently continued all day yesterday.

Solid lines of marchers 20 abreast waving banners demanding "bread" swarmed through the streets, captured and burned secret police headquarters, liberated prisoners, attacked Communist party headquarters, destroyed the jamming station that interferes with western broadcasts. They raised a white flag over city hall.

The businessmen told of tanks rolling through the streets, of bullet blasts at the milling workers, of jet fighters winging overhead and of a tight curfew clamped on the city by Polish authorities.

In some instances, it was reported, troops and police failed to take action against the demonstrators and even gave up their arms to them. Some of the marchers were well armed, and returned the fire of troops. They succeeded at one time in capturing some of the tanks.

There were persistent rumors of other uprisings in the cities of Szczin (Stettin), Gdansk, Gdynia, Allenstein (Olsztyn), Katowice and Lodz, but Warsaw radio mentioned only the events at Poznan.

Willard Barber, counselor of the American Embassy in Warsaw, said as far as he knew riots had occurred only in Poznan.

He reported that three or four American businessmen were known to have been in Poznan during the riots. He could not identify them, but believed they have left the city safely.

At least 30,000 persons were reported in the marching, milling (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

1,200 New Homes Built, 3,000 More Expected Influx of IBM Workers Booms Housing Market

Since Neanderthal man burrowed his first cave in the stone age the progress of homebuilding has been a meteoric, architectural achievement which today finds America's landscape in a forest of brick, mortar, concrete and frame.

Ulster county's homebuilding, which has likewise progressed through the years, gained its greatest impetus with the location of the Kingston IBM plant and its more than 5,000 employees—many of whom today dwell in the 1,200 new homes constructed within the last year.

THE NUMBER of new homes built from May 31, 1955 to May 31, 1956 is based on figures for the Kingston area serviced by the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp.

That the building "boom" is steadily gaining momentum is evidenced by a Central Hudson estimate that approximately 3,000 more homes are expected to be constructed within the next three years in the Kingston area.

According to Arthur W. Buddenhagen, resident manager of Central Hudson, the heaviest concentration of homebuilding, at present, is in the Saugerties area.

The utility company is geared for the anticipated growth in the area and its 200 employees of the Kingston district (including commercial and operating) are working continually to increase facilities to meet the demand.

DEMANDS FOR gas and electric service increase daily, Mr. Buddenhagen said. The total number of customers using electric service as of May 31, 1956 was 23,400, according to company figures. Customers served with gas by the company as of the same date totaled 9,300.

The company's recent report gives a detailed account of its plans to meet the increasing use of gas and electric service in the Kingston area, reflecting an expansion trend throughout the entire Hudson valley where this forecast is made:

"1) The company estimates that it must connect 35,000 new residential customers in the next

10 years to serve a population growth of 125,000 people—this anticipated population growth is equivalent to the present combined population of the cities of Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Kingston and Beacon.

"2) Aside from the growth in number of customers, the company must also reckon with the changing habits of people which will result in an increasing demand for water heaters, washers, dryers, ranges, air conditioners and many other labor-saving and comfort-giving devices. These changing habits, we think, will increase the average usage of our residential customers from about 2600 kilowatt-hours in 1955 to 5,000 kilowatt-hours by 1965—approximately double.

Kingston Area Included In Expansion Over U.S.

Announcements were made today about further expansion of International Business Machines Corp. and shipment of the first large-scale computer for the nation's vast new electronic air warning network.

The word was given to Hudson valley and New York city newspapermen touring the firm's local electric typewriter plant and the one operated by the military products division.

Kingston is included in the expansion program, the newsmen heard, in that a laboratory is to be built here for the military products division.

Another major installation will be the construction at Lexington, Ky., of additional manufacturing facilities for the company's electric typewriter division.

THE TWO MAJOR projects are part of the IBM nationwide expansion program.

Announcement about shipping of the computer said that the extraordinary "electronic brain" would be sent to McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey to fit into the supersensitive continental air defense system.

It will be used in the integrated complex of radar, ships, jet aircraft, communications networks, missiles and people in the defense program.

PREVIOUSLY ANNOUNCED this year have been construction of plant, laboratory and educational facilities in San Jose, Calif., and Rochester, Minn., a 12-story office building in Los Angeles, office buildings in several other cities and a plant and laboratory for production of bombing-radar navigation equipment (BRANE) at Owego, N. Y.

H. W. Miller Jr., general manager of the autonomous electric typewriter division, said that the Lexington operation would augment Kingston production which got underway just two weeks ago with a shift of most typewriter manufacturing from the company's Poughkeepsie plant to this location. This 30-mile overnight shift was accomplished in 10 hours on June 15, the new facilities going into operation the following day with an 8 per cent increase in production over that of an average day in the Poughkeepsie plant. Typewriter operations continuing at Poughkeepsie will be discontinued gradually as the Kingston and Lexington plants reach full production.

MR. MILLER SAID that the Lexington plant would be a 386,000 square-foot building on a 278-acre site north of the city on the Beltline Highway. The Eastern State Hospital property is under option to the company. A 40,000 square-foot building will be ready for occupancy and training operations in late 1956, and the remainder will be completed by the summer of 1957, when about 1,800 people will have been employed. Architects for the Lexington plant are Fordyce and Hamby of New York. The contractor is the Gilbane Construction Company of Providence, Rhode Island.

Charles F. McElwain, general manager of IBM's military products division, which also was reorganized late last year as an autonomous unit of the big business machines company, said his division's new laboratory would be built on presently-owned land opposite the Kingston plant.

Construction on the 150,000 square-foot building will begin in the fall of 1956. It will accommodate 700 employees now employed elsewhere on research and development in connection with the giant computers being produced for SAGE, the air force's continental air defense system. Giffels and Vallet, of Detroit, are the architects. The contractor has not been selected.

Mr. McElwain revealed that the first of the tremendous electronic computers which are the heart, as well as the "brains" of the nation's vast new air warning network is in the process of being shipped to McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey. The complex computer, fastest calculating and decision-making device ever conceived, will absorb data fed into it from outlying points on all aircraft in a given area. It will instantly determine whether they are friend or foe, and calculate their course and speed. If combative action is required, the SAGE Computer will help to guide interceptor planes or missiles to meet the attacking force.

PRESENTLY, IBM employs approximately 4,900 people in its Kingston operations, 3,100 in defense work and 1,800 in the typewriter plant.

The "electronic brain" to be sent out will be used in the immense project known as the Semi-Automatic Ground Environment (SAGE) system. It combines the abilities of the world's fastest electronic computer to receive information, to memorize, to calculate, and to record answers with the perspective and display talents of radar to present an instantaneous graphic picture of the location, speed, and direction of all planes within radar range.

With a knowledge of flight plans of friendly planes available in the computer, hostile planes can be identified immediately and the most effective defense action taken—again on the basis of computer information and instruction.

THE COMPUTER was designed by International Business Machines Corporation at its military products division laboratory, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in cooperation with Massachusetts Institute of Technology Lincoln Laboratory, and was manufactured at the company's Kingston Military Products Division plant. The plans for production were laid in 1953 by IBM, and the first machine is being completed and shipped in accordance with the schedule.

The SAGE system starts with a radar ring—on land, on navy picket ships at sea, on offshore Texas Towers, and on airborne early warning planes ranging far out over the ocean. These radars are linked by telephone lines or ultrahigh-frequency radio directly to the high-speed computer. Information about the aircraft anywhere within the radar area is relayed continuously and automatically to the computer. This IBM-built equipment called the AN/FSQ-7, digests all of this information plus ground observer reports, flight plans, and weather information as fast as it is received and translates it into an over-all picture of the air situation. These TV-like pictures show the air battle as it develops and provide the basis for the necessary human judgments.

THE COMPUTER automatically calculates for the operator the most effective employment of such defensive weapons as guided missiles, anti-aircraft batteries. (Continued on Page 20, Col. 2)

No Progress Seen In Steel Talks

New York, June 29 (AP)—Steel wage negotiating teams wound up another session today with no indication of any progress towards staving off a nationwide strike of 650,000 steel workers tomorrow midnight.

But as steel furnaces cooled, they arranged for further last-ditch talks.

On emerging from the session David J. McDonald, United Steel Workers president, and John A. Stephens, chief industry negotiator, said only that they would continue to keep in touch and probably would meet later today or tomorrow.

McDonald then attended a meeting of the union's executive board.

The meeting of the union's 170-member wage policy committee was scheduled for this afternoon.

Neither company nor union sources would say whether there had been any reply to an invitation extended by McDonald last night to leading executives of 12 steel firms to meet him here today.

McDonald sent individual telegrams to each after Adm. Ben Moreell, board chairman of the Jones & Laughlin steel firm, said in a TV speech that men of good will could reach a settlement.

For a time this morning, it was not known whether the negotiators had met as scheduled. They had said they would meet at 10 a. m. but they failed to show up in the Hotel Roosevelt's presidential suite, customary meeting place.

Newsmen later found they had switched the meeting to a room three floors above the 12th floor presidential suite. The session lasted about an hour.

Grand Jury Will Act on City Worker's Affidavit; No Losses, Mayor Reports

The information in an affidavit by a city employee sent to the state for investigation will be handled as any other complaint, District Attorney Howard C. St. John said today.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang said I have investigated the subject matter of the complaint and am satisfied that it involves no loss or conversion of city funds or property.

St. John said he would call the April Grand Jury back into session the first of next week to act on the complaint sent to him by the state department of audit and control for whatever action he deems necessary.

Both the district attorney and state comptroller's office withheld the text of the affidavit, which brought state auditors to the city hall to check records. It was purportedly signed by the city employee in the presence of a local attorney, who is of a different political faith from Mayor Stang, a Republican serving his second term in office.

Although it was not definitely announced, belief is that the city worker, who signed the affidavit, is employed in the department of public works, not directly responsible for handling any money.

The name of the pilot was not immediately learned.

Stormville, N. Y., June 29 (AP)—An air force jet plane, whose pilot apparently made a desperate attempt to land on the Taconic State Parkway when his fuel ran low, crashed and burned today in a wooded section a short distance from the road. The pilot was killed.

The plane was believed to be an F86-D all-weather jet interceptor from Stewart Field at Newburgh, N. Y. Unofficial early reports of the mishap gave this picture:

The pilot radioed Stewart Field he was running out of gas and asked aid in clearing traffic from the New York State Thruway in the vicinity of Newburgh so he could try for a landing on the highway.

State police quickly undertook to halt traffic, but the plane did not appear.

Shortly afterward residents near the Taconic State Parkway, about 10 miles to the east and across the Hudson river, saw the plane circling low. Moments later it crashed. Some persons said they heard several explosions, others none.

First persons to reach the scene, about 500 yards east of the parkway, found the plane burning fiercely. The pilot's body was lying on the ground near it, along with his ejected seat.

He apparently had tried to escape through use of his ejector seat before the plane crashed, but was too low for his parachute to open.

The fire department from Stormville, some five miles to the east, sped to the scene and doused the flames.

State police for a time kept spectators far back, fearing danger from rockets believed to be carried by the plane.

It was not clear why the pilot radioed he wanted to try to land on the thruway across the river, but some believed he may have mistaken the Taconic Parkway for the thruway.

WORLD'S MIGHTIEST INLAND WATERWAY—When deep-draft craft steam through the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterway system, perhaps as early as some time in 1959, the men who go down to the sea in ships will be traveling the world's longest inland route for deep-draft traffic. Its approximate 2,300-mile length (inclusive of one-way mileage from Lake Huron into Lake Michigan and down to Port of Chicago) will rival the Mediterranean Sea route (inset). The United States, New York State, Canada and her province of Ontario have joined hands in the 900-million-dollar-plus effort which is creating the huge navigation project. Patrolman Hurt In Patrol Car, Truck Collision

A Kingston policeman was injured in a truck-car collision to day at Albany and Clinton avenues, police reported.

INJURED Was Officer John R. Crespo, Jr., 28, of 67 Lafayette avenue, who was treated at Kingston Hospital for an injury over the right eye, released and excused from duty.

The police car was in collision with a 1953 truck, owned by the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., 607 Broadway, operated by W. Ivan Whitmore, 48, of 163 Clinton avenue.

THE REPORT said the truck had stopped facing north on Albany avenue near Clinton avenue waiting for a traffic signal to change and the police car ran into the rear of the truck. The truck sustained damage to the rear tailboard while the police car was damaged on the right front fender, hood and right headlight, the report added.

AIR-CONDITIONED FUNERAL HOME

for some years and, on that basis, we can estimate an increase of some 5,000 new commercial customers by 1965.

"In terms easy to measure, the new electric capacity which will be needed to supply the requirements of this industrial, commercial and residential growth will be equivalent to two more Danskammer Point steam stations equal in size to the present station.

"THE COMPANY has recently completed an economic study to determine the size and timing of additional electric capacity at Danskammer Point and we expect to announce the size of the next unit in the very near future. We have presently installed at Danskammer Point two units of 70,000 kilowatts each, representing an investment of approximately $25,000,000."

The realignment of assignments for commercial representatives to handle the expansion is another of the company's current projects.

THERE ARE MORE calls for service, increased installation and more meters to read. It all adds up to a herculean job but Central Hudson is prepared for the growth of service.

The company's annual report for 1955 is an indication of this growth. The report shows all classes of customers made increased use of the company's services with total electric sales showing an increase of 17 percent over the previous year and total gas sales an increase of 13 percent.

R. G. Erickson, assistant secretary of the company, told a press-radio meeting at the company's Rifton Recreation Center on June 15 that Central Hudson expects its natural gas business to double in the next 10 years. Mr. Erickson said the company calculates "that this growth is equivalent to that which we would realize if every home in the City of Kingston were heated with natural gas."

HE ALSO INDICATED that material progress is being made in bringing atomic electric power plants into actual construction phase. Central Hudson, he said, is a participant in Atomic Power Development Associates and Power Reactor Development Company—two non-profit corporations consisting of 54 companies from 18 states, carrying on research and design work leading to the development of a nuclear reactor to be constructed by the Power Reactor Development Company.

Cold, hard statistics which result in the warm happiness of these 1200 new homes include thousands of feet of lumber, tons of brick and mortar and miles of wiring.

IT HAS DEMANDED also the talented, sinewy hands of many workmen to bring about the completed product of a new home.

George E. Yerry, president of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters estimated that more than 250 skilled mechanics, members of the council, have worked on home construction during the past year.

The workmen include carpenters, electricians, plumbers, bricklayers, laborers, etc. The entire building program is a reflection of the rapidity with which the Kingston area is growing. For every nail which is driven has an indirect bearing on the mercantile potential of the area.

IT FOLLOWS in natural sequence, of course, that more homes result in more residents and additional commerce. Another indication of area growth is the increased use of telephone service.

Early in May the New York Telephone Company distributed approximately 22,000 copies of the company's 1956 directory which contained an estimated 22,118 listings—646 more than last year.

Robert J. Dalton, Kingston district manager, announced that approximately 2,000 copies of the buff-covered directory in the High Falls-Rosendale areas and about 870 copies in the Phoenicia area.

AN INDICATION of the area's expansion, brought about by new home building, was the 16-page classified section in which there are 427 listings this year—25 more than in the previous book. The telephone company is engaged also in a "housing" program. The company's building at Broadway and West O'Reilly street is presently constructing an addition.

THE INCREASED space will house equipment when Kingston receives dial telephone service, expected in the fall of 1957, according to Mr. Dalton.

Thus, the cavalcade of progress moves forward as an aura of freshness provided by the canopy of new homes and smell of fresh paint pervades the area.

More new homes nestle in land once bare and area building pace would indicate it is continuing only slightly behind the rate of construction last year.

A GENERAL DROP in home-building throughout New York state—including the Kingston-Newburgh-Poughkeepsie area—during April was indicated in a summary released by State Housing Commissioner Joseph P. McMurray.

In the Kingston-Newburgh-Poughkeepsie industrial area (Dutchess, Orange and Ulster counties), Commissioner McMurray reported that valuation of building permits issued was $8,854,900 for the first four months of 1956 for all types of construction.

THIS CONSISTS of permits for 273 dwelling units (all one-family homes) valued at $3,273,200, approximately $1,347,400 for additions, alterations and repairs to existing buildings and $4,234,200 in new non-residential construction.

For the first four months of 1955, permits were issued for 337 dwelling units (all one-family homes) valued at $3,631,300.

The report showed that in New York state 7,181 dwellings were authorized or started last month as against 10,598 in April 1955, a decline of 32 per cent. The drop was general throughout the state and was especially sharp in New York city, the report indicated.

The government reported on June 16, according to the Associated Press, homebuilding during the first five months of 1956 units in May, a seasonal gain of 2,000 over April, but about 30,000 less than May last year.

Units begun under FHA and VA inspection during January through May dropped 27 per cent below the comparable months of 1955.

Final Honors Paid To Admiral King

Washington, June 29 (AP)—The nation today pays its final honors to Fleet Adm. Ernest J. King, World War 2 commander of history's greatest naval force.

The 77-year-old officer died Monday of a heart ailment in the Portsmouth, N. H. Naval Hospital. He had served as chief of naval operations and commander in chief of the United States fleet in World War 2.

Arranging to attend religious funeral services at the Washington Cathedral (1 p. m. EDT) were senior representatives of the present administration, the diplomatic corps, and the secretaries of the armed services.

Four American officers who shared King's five-star rank were among the honorary pallbearers. They are Gen. George C. Marshall, wartime Army Chief of Staff; and Fleet Adm. William D. Leahy, Chester W. Nimitz and William F. Halsey.

From the Cathedral the body of the wartime admiral was to be moved by hearse to Constitution ave. and transferred to a caisson for a solemn procession to the front of the National Capitol.

Lined up for the funeral cortege were the navy band, a battalion of midshipmen from the naval academy, a company of army infantry, the Marine Corps Band, a company of marines, the navy ceremonial guard, a squadron of airmen and a composite unit representing women members of all of the armed forces.

After a brief pause in front of the capitol, a smaller group was to escort the World War 2 com-

Little Boys Room

Greenville, S. C. (AP)—Cats up trees, children stuck in subways and, of course, fires of any sort will bring out the fire department. Firemen here had a new one to add to the list after they were called to a school to rescue a second grader from the little boy's room. What happened was that after the teacher had decided the boy had been there long enough she found that the door lock had jammed. School people worked with the lock without success, then called the fire department. By the time a ladder truck arrived the door had been removed, however.

A group of navy planes stood by to fly over the Annapolis Cemetery, paying the navy's final tribute.

Airmen Admit Plan Went Wrong in Kidnaping Broker

Berkeley, Calif., June 29 (AP)—Two airmen wryly acknowledged today that their holdup attempt and the kidnaping of a broker in his pink convertible didn't go by the book.

Admitting a constant reading of detective fiction, one said they decided to try robbing a rich family "to be a little more independent, a little more secure."

Charles Russell Rose, 58, the kidnap victim, persuaded Airman 1/C Edward J. Curran, 26, to give himself up without hurting anyone, reported Police Inspector Charles Ipsen.

Airman Kenneth Riley, 19, who fled from Rose's palatial 20-room home after a policeman's gun was leveled on him—and left Curran to improvise alone—was captured without fuss 14 hours later.

Riley, of Menlo Park, Calif., came down out of the hills to pick up his police-watched car, parked just a block from Rose's home, where the airmen's misadventures started at breakfast time yesterday.

Curran, of Saranac Lake, and stationed with Riley at the Air Force Base, about 35 miles south of Berkeley, was charged with kidnaping, robbery and burglary. Riley was charged with robbery and burglary.

38 Killed in March China Calls Red Bid on Formosa 'Pure Nonsense'

Taipei, Formosa, June 29 (AP)—Nationalist China slammed the door today on any peace talks with the Chinese Communists.

RED CHINESE Premier Chou En-lai's offer to negotiate the "peaceful liberation" of Formosa to the Communists was branded here as an "insulting gesture."

Chu Hsin-ming, acting director of the government information office, said Chou's offer yesterday via Peiping radio was "merely a variation of the theme" played by Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev.

"WHAT NEEDS liberating," Chu said, "is not Taiwan (Formosa), which is free and ruled by law, but the mainland under the bloody Communist reign behind the Iron Curtain."

If the Chinese Communists, remembering that they are still Chinese, shake off the Russian control, abandon communism, render their allegiance to the Republic of China and surrender themselves to the government, then peaceful unification of the country will be realized at once."

NATIONALIST Foreign Minister George Yeh, on a visit to the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, labeled Peiping's offer "pure nonsense."

"We do not recognize anything the Reds do, and I do not comment on anything Chou En-lai says," he declared.

The Nationalist spokesman in Taipei said the whole purpose of the Soviet bloc's current peace drive is "to bewitch the people of the free world, wreck the unity among the free countries and isolate the United States."

"By doing so," he added, "the Russian imperialists hope to gain the necessary time for their war preparation."

One of the rioters guided him out of the city by way of side streets, he said.

The Warsaw broadcast indicated arrests were being made on a large scale, reporting: "Preliminary investigation with regard to the arrested diversionists indicates that they are linked with the reactionary underground."

The Polish radio said that "by 7 a. m. today the overwhelming majority of workers in those establishments which interrupted work yesterday had come to work. Tramway and bus transport has been restored."

Not Impressed

McCook, Neb. (AP)—The driver of a car tailed by police finally stopped, got out and let his companion take over the wheel. The change didn't impress the cops. Brought into court, both drivers, George Shepard of Oak Creek, Colo., and his brother Henry of Lenora, Kan., were convicted of drunken driving and fined $100 each.

Not Hit Hard, He Says

Charlotte, N. C., June 29 (AP)—President William Pollock of the Textile Workers Union of America says the southern textile industry has not yet felt the effects of Japanese imports. Declaring the industry's profits this year are double those of 1955, Pollock said the "weeping and wailing" about Japanese competition is a smokescreen to cover the mills' reluctance to pay "decent wages." Pollock declared the textile industry is "exporting more than it's importing" and although the mills "are making profits, they want everybody to think they're in terrible shape." Pollock, elected president of the TWUA last month to succeed the retired Emil Rieve, made his remarks yesterday during a meeting with 120 union leaders from throughout the South.

Judge Accuses DA of 'Inertia' In Rackets Probe

New York, June 29 (AP)—Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz, in a stormy courtroom exchange, yesterday accused Brooklyn District Attorney, Edward S. Silver of "inertia" in investigating labor racketeering.

Silver, red-faced and angry, responded by charging that "your honor is resentful that I wouldn't come to you and plan with you. There are four other judges in this court."

The word battle erupted as Leibowitz was charging a newly constituted rackets grand jury. Leibowitz later called Silver "a nice guy... but I just want him to pay a little more attention to what's going on in the rackets grand jury."

TEMPERS FLARED when the judge cited the anti-rackets record of former Dist. Atty. Miles McDonald and recalled Silver's campaign promise of a war against waterfront mobs.

"It was a wonderful promise," the judge told the grand jury, "but I don't know of a single labor racketeer or waterfront mobster who has been indicted in the last two years."

McDonald's record "wrote a glorious page in the history of prosecution in this country," Leibowitz said, and he accused Silver of going after "small fry" culprits.

"I bitterly resent the intimations that there is anybody in Brooklyn, big or small, I won't go after," said Silver, getting to his feet.

"DID YOU INDICT anyone?" Leibowitz demanded. "How do you know we had evidence for such indictments?" Silver replied, launching into his counter-accusations that Leibowitz was trying to "dominate" the grand jury and his office.

By this time, both were shouting. "Let's not get personal," said Leibowitz. "I tried to keep this on an impersonal basis."

"I don't think you did," retorted Silver.

"You're in office three years and haven't indicted one racketeer," said the judge.

"DOES THE evidence exist?" demanded Silver. "Mr. Silver," Leibowitz warned, "if you want to engage in a hassle you are going to come out second best."

"But you'll be bloody as well," Silver retorted. "I'm not ashamed of my record."

Grand jury members sat in amazement as the battle raged about them.

East Aurora Girl Elected Governor

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., June 29 (AP)—Phoebe Babbage of East Aurora has been elected governor of the 15th Annual Empire Girls' State.

Miss Babbage was one of three "Federalists" candidates chosen for statewide office yesterday by the 273 high-school juniors attending the convocation at Skidmore College sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. She appointed Marilyn Umlas of West Hempstead, defeated candidate of the "Nationalist" party, as her secretary of state.

Other Federalist winners were Judy Alice Rojas and Malvina, lieutenant governor, and Maryanne Powell of Snyder, comptroller. The only Nationalist victor was Margaret R. Leuchauer of Perryburg, who came to this country three years ago from Germany, attorney general.

The delegates to the weeklong meeting set out today on a tour of the state capital of Albany.

Public Borrowing Becomes Greater

Washington, June 29 (AP)—A government study shows an increasing tendency by state and local governments to shift from a pay-as-you-go basis to borrowing for expanding public construction.

The study said this is particularly true of states, whose debt financing above from about 15 per cent of capital outlays in the 1947-49 period to about 30 per cent in the 1952-54 years.

The data, published jointly by the Commerce and Labor Departments, said local governments each year have financed about 64 per cent of their public works expenditures from borrowed funds.

The report said public works expenditures by state and local governments from 1947 through 1954 amounted to 48½ billion dollars of which 51 per cent was borrowed capital, 8 per cent was federal aid and 41 per cent came from current revenues and balances.

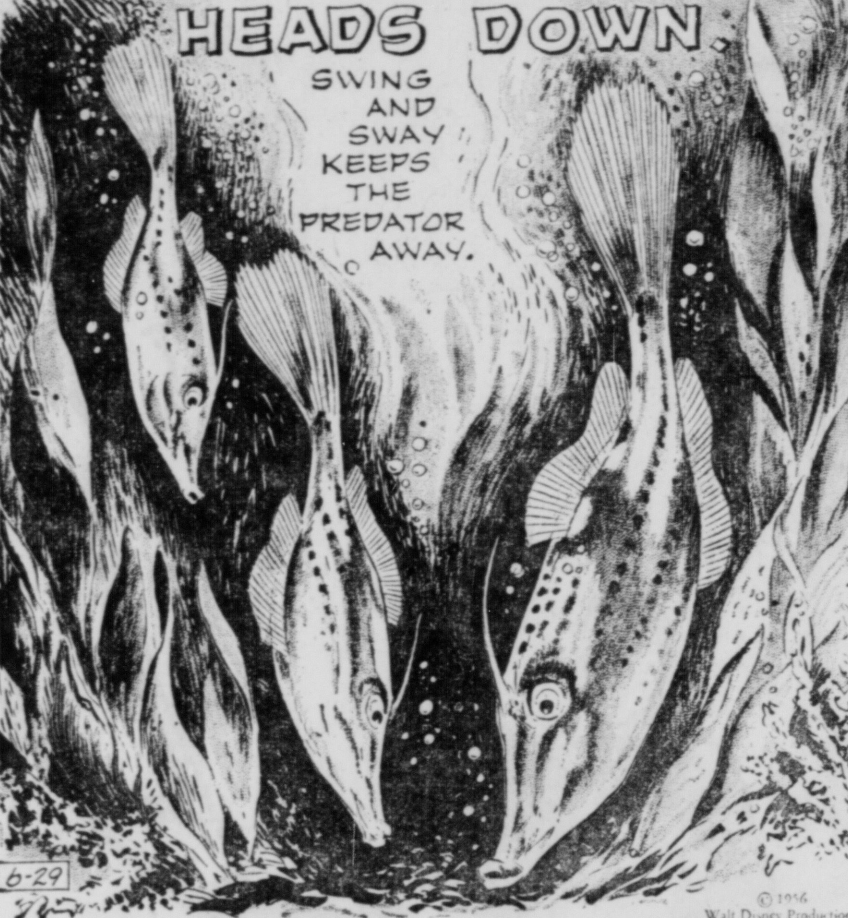

The expenditures involved were for highways, educational facilities, housing and redevelopment programs, sanitation, water supply, hospitals, other utilities and miscellaneous projects.

Two Lose Lives

Forestport, N. Y., June 29 (AP)—Two women died yesterday when a 14-foot motorboat was swamped and flipped over as it approached a dock on South Lake, in the Adirondacks about 15 miles east of here, authorities said. Mrs. Mabel Radell, 69, and Mrs. Julia Breen, 60, both of Boonville, were riding with their husbands, Walter Radell, 69, and William Breen. State police said the men told them Radell towed his wife to shore but Mrs. Breen grabbed the overturned boat, lost her hold and disappeared. Her body washed ashore later.

PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE

The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation recently completed an economic survey of the Mid-Hudson region which reveals interesting figures on what is expected to take place in this area in the next decade.

If the forecast of the Central Hudson comes into being, there will be a total industrial expansion equivalent to 10 new IBM plants, the size of the Poughkeepsie plant which now employs over 9,000. These plants would have an electric load of 7,000 kilowatts each.

The Central Hudson's faith in its forecast is demonstrated by its planning for this tremendous growth over the next 10 years. The company already has engaged a firm to perform the engineering work and to supervise the construction of a third unit at Danskammer Point. This additional electric capacity of over 100,000 kilowatts would make the total investment in electric generation here almost $50 millions.

Also in preparation for meeting the future needs of the people in the area with natural gas, the company has approval of the Federal Power Commission for a second source of natural gas supply. This would tie it with the Tennessee Gas Transmission Company at a point near Albany and would give a source of gas to the north of its system. It would result in a major pipeline running north and south throughout the area capable of meeting the future needs at any particular point.

In addition, the Central Hudson also reports progress in bringing atomic elector power plants into actual construction phase.

With estimates of 35,000 new residential customers to serve a population growth of 125,000 people, the Central Hudson is being realistic with its expansion program.

It might be well for other businesses here to emulate the Central Hudson and start planning for this ten-year expansion period.

UNCLE SAM AS A COMPETITOR

If you're in business, there's a good chance Uncle Sam is one of your competitors. And if you're not in business, you still must help to pay—through your taxes—for the government's business-type activities.

That observation comes from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. It is solidly backed up by a set of facts.

According to the Bureau of the Budget, the government actually is operating 19,771 commercial-industrial undertakings, with 266 thousand employees and close to $12 billion of capital assets. These fall into more than 200 categories, including mining, manufacturing, wholesale and retail trade, farming, transportation, communication, services such as electric power, insurance, and so on and so on.

The Chamber also points out that when Uncle Sam runs a business that private business could run just as well he is adding unnecessarily to the cost of government. Further, he is losing revenue—for private business pays taxes while government business-type activities do not. Instead, they usually run at deficits.

On the bright side, it is clear that more and more people are awakening to the menace of government in business—and that more and more men in government are interested in doing something about it. In the last year, a start has been made toward getting government out of business, and a substantial saving has resulted. But the surface has only been scratched.

You'd think scientists who can predict an eclipse of the moon years in advance would be able to tell you accurately whether it was going to be a fair day when you schedule a picnic.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
IT'S ALL IN THE MOOD

Arthur Miller, the playwright, and forthcoming husband of Marilyn Monroe, if he is not such when this is printed, announced before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, that any associations he may have had with various Communist activities, were responses to his mood of the moment. The mood passed away slowly, not like Saul of Tarsus who saw a blinding flash on the road to Damascus, but slowly, and now the aforesaid Arthur Miller no longer has any association with Communist activities. Therefore, as his mood has changed, he hopes the State Department will give him a passport to honeymoon in Europe with Marilyn Monroe which seems to be a delightful occupation for a comparatively young man.

Perhaps should Marilyn Monroe ever fade from Arthur Miller's life, his mood will change again and he may return to his associations with the Communists. It is all in the mood. If Paris was worth a mass to Henry of Navarre, is not Marilyn Monroe worth a change of mood? Besides this is 1956 when the Italian, French and British Communists are wondering if Khrushchev has not faked Stalin's record and the "Daily Worker" publishes articles attacking Stalin similar to those which appeared in this column 20 years ago. In such circumstances anyone can change his mood without much loss of character.

Miller makes a point that the artist, by which he means a playwright, must be treated differently from most other folks, because he is different, particularly as he always wants to advocate something. Now, that is a very good point and is the substance of what has been the anti-Communist effort, known to its opponents, as blacklisting. The basis of this endeavor was to eliminate Communist and pro-Communist writers, directors and actors because of their advocacy of a cause which the others believe to be essentially evil. If an artist has the right to be pro-Communist because he is an artist, then his opponent has an equal right to be anti-Communist and to advocate that cause.

The Fund for the Republic apparently disagrees with this point of view and takes the position that nobody should be permitted to advocate anything, even if the advocacy falls upon the ears of children who have not yet reached Khrushchev's maturity to know that Stalin was evil. Only the pro-Communists, however, can make real use of this privilege, because if the anti-Communists oppose the pro-Communists, they are interfering with the latter's rights. Most motion picture and radio audiences consist of immature children who somehow have come to believe that what they see and hear must be the truth because they saw and heard it.

Miller's position apparently is that the playwright bears no responsibility for the damage to our country or our civilization that may be a product of his mood and his desire for advocacy. Yet it seems to me that he needs to add responsibility to his formula. He makes the point that Dostoyevsky would have had a difficult time in these days, because of objections to him in the United States and Soviet Russia. If Dostoyevsky were a sincere man in our time as he undoubtedly was in his own, he would have welcomed the opposition, no matter how unpleasant or even brutal, because those who believe in their ideals do not fear torture or even death for them. And fundamental beliefs are unrelated to the present moods; they are of the stuff that builds character.

There is this to say about Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, spies, traitors, evil people: They went to their deaths for what they believed to be true. They did not bargain with the State Department for a passport to a honeymoon. They did not bargain with the FBI for their lives.

It is all in the point of view. There are those who have been pro-Communist, pro-Russian, pro-Stalinist and who gained much thereby in moments when such relationships were profitable, and who now turn on their former associations with a vindictiveness that consistent anti-Communists never showed. Some change at great personal sacrifice. Maybe they are sincere; maybe they are making a record. Maybe they do not want to be picked up should we ever go to war with Russia. Maybe they have discovered their errors. Who can ever know what their motives are? (Copyright, 1956, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
THE CHILD UNDERGOING TONSILLECTOMY

The removal of tonsils (tonsillectomy) in children is such a common procedure that there is the danger that it does not receive as careful attention as it should. Drs. Vincent Collins and A. Granatelli, St. Vincent's Hospital, New York, point out that the most neglected of anesthetic procedures is that for tonsillectomy. The anesthetic is usually considered to be too minor and too simple to deserve the attention of the expert. It is relegated to the notice and conditions are permitted that would not be tolerated in any adult patient.

"It is our attitude that the child undergoing tonsillectomy should have the best anesthetic technique possible and it should be rendered by the best anesthetist who is available. Three principles must be kept in mind based on (1) safety for the patient, (2) comfort for the patient, and (3) convenience for the surgeon. The pre-operative preparation is primarily psychological.

Each child who enters the hospital for an operation should be told briefly what is to happen to him and briefly why it has to occur. One must never pretend things are other than they are with a growing child. Once in the hospital, the child should receive a pre-operative visit from the anesthetist. The child should see and know him. The anesthetist should gain the child's confidence, tell him what he is going to do the following day, and explain the anesthetic in simple terms, such as describing the anesthetic mask as a Halloween mask. One may promise to sing a song or tell a story and the promise of a lollipop is better than all the drugs in existence."

These authors feel that the medication given before operation should be generous but not depressing. They prefer capsules of scopolamine (Sedonal) given by rectum plus scopolamine given by injection into the muscles. On the day of operation there are several suggestions which have proven helpful.

1. Relatives and friends are excluded from the room where medication is given and from the operating room. This includes well-meaning family physicians.
2. Outside noises are eliminated as far as possible and talk is taboo during pre-operation medication.
3. No restraints are used and children should not be forced to lie down. On several occasions the medication can be given with the child sitting. The only precaution taken is to have a nurse beside the operating table for support of the child.
4. The child is allowed to hold the mask and to smell it. This is easily a pleasure as the gauze is sprinkled with a few drops of spearmint oil.
5. A conversation in a low, comforting and reassuring voice is begun with the child. This vocal anesthesia is the oldest sedative we have.

Most of the children treated with the combination mentioned above arrive in the operating room asleep but responsive to questions and suggestions. Having the tonsils out is a simple procedure but it is a tremendous experience for a young child and should be made as easy for him as possible.

The News About the President Continues Good

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Administration of government personnel policies has already been tangled up by the recent Supreme Court decision that President Eisenhower violated the law in extending security risk firings to non-sensitive agencies and jobs. If this means that every job in government will have to be reclassified as sensitive or non-sensitive, it will cause considerable confusion. It is pointed out that a janitor or cleaning woman in the Departments of State or Defense might be an extremely effective spy, even if all the file cabinets were locked up tight every night.

Several bills have already been introduced in Congress to reverse the effect of the Supreme Court decision.

Three amendments to the Act of Aug. 26, 1950, have been introduced by Senators Mundt (R.-S. D.), Eastland (D.-Miss.) and McCarthy (R.-Wis.). This act gave the heads of 11 specified agencies full authority to suspend without pay any civilian employee if necessary in the interest of national security.

THESE AGENCIES are the Departments of State, Justice, Commerce, Defense, Army, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard, and the Atomic Energy Commission, the National Security Resources Board and the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. The proposed Senate amendments would make the 1950 act applicable to all other government agencies and their employees. Right of any suspended employee to appeal to Civil Service Commission would be waived if a question of security were involved.

Rep. Francis Walter (D.-Pa.) has offered a new bill to authorize suspension and dismissal of all civilian government employees in security risk cases.

Rep. Edward H. Rees (R.-Kans.) has introduced a bill with a more complicated formula. It would set up a new three-member Loyalty Review Board to which appeals could be taken by employees who think they are dismissed unfairly. It would separate the handling of loyalty and security cases.

IN EFFECT, this would be a return to the Truman administration program, when there was a system of loyalty review boards to handle employee risk case appeals. This was abolished by the Eisenhower order of April 1953 which lumped all loyalty risk cases with security-suitability cases.

In the past, Congress has worked at cross purposes in this field. On the one hand it has set up legal standards to make the hiring of security risks more difficult and make their dismissal for cause much easier. On the other hand, in veterans' preference and civil service legislation, Congress has tried to protect government employees in their job rights and prevent unjustified firings for political purposes.

The famous McCarran Rider, which authorized summary firings without appeal in sensitive agencies of government was repealed on American Legion insistence. It feared that the McCarran Rider might be used by the Republicans to fire Democratic government employees who had veterans' preference rights.

GOVERNMENT PERSONNEL officers and security officers who have to handle these cases say that the present legislative tangle is pretty bad. They complain that loyalty, security, personal suitability and civil service rights cases can't always be handled by separate offices. Too many cases overlap.

From a practical personnel management standpoint, there should be one authority in each agency with full power to fire people unsuitable for government employment on any and all grounds. If Congress wanted to prevent wholesale firings, it might limit the number of summary dismissals to not more than 1 per cent of the employees per year.

Amendments to existing legislation may serve temporarily. But eventually Congress may have to provide a complete new code on personnel hiring and firing policy. Obviously there isn't time to straighten out this mess properly before scheduled congressional adjournment in July.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The adventures of Adam Von Trott, a young German aristocrat who died before a Nazi firing squad, are beginning to shape up as the story of a daring spy within the vast jungle of intrigue in the interests of Soviet Russia during the Roosevelt reign.

As I have hitherto reported, Von Trott came here in the summer of 1940 and visited William Jay Schieffelin, a rich New York importer of liquor and drugs who had amassed an impressive and impudent record of association with Communist fronts. Later Schieffelin threw in with Isadore Lipschultz and Louis M. Nizer, a New York-Hollywood lawyer, in the Society for the Prevention of World War III. The Society's program was a variation of Henry Morgenthau's plan to junk all German industry and withdraw the troops of the western allies beyond the English channel and the Pyrenees, thus ceding the territorial conquest of Europe to the atheistic Soviet empire. Lipschultz is a fearless blither who had a hard time getting American citizenship. The Society for the Prevention of World War III is a letterhead layout, one of whose directors, an admiral, was surprised to learn that he was listed as such and explained that he had just agreed to become a member when Lipschultz, a stranger, but not a Communist front or apparatus, but its program would not have offended the Kremlin at that time. Lipschultz also operates a gunshow force who have brazenly boasted in books of treachery to loyal Americans who employed them in good faith. This is known as the non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League. Lipschultz is the boss of both. They hold no membership meetings and one president of the Anti-Nazi League did not know where he could lay hands on a roster.

The present William Jay Schieffelin, known as junior, is an admiral who returned to Germany by way of the Orient and Russia. He had served in the Nazi Foreign Office under Hitler and in 1939 had gone to Cliveden, Lady Astor's estate on the Thames, where he decided that Churchill and Anthony Eden lacked political power to throw the nation into war if he should invade Poland. He so reported to Potsdam. Three months later, Hitler struck and the war was on. This information was revealed by the British Foreign Office last month.

William Jay Schieffelin, Jr., insists that Von Trott was not a Communist but a true German who hated Hitler's tyranny. Like his father, junior takes full advantage of his rights to his opinions. He fought for the United States in World War I, but he thinks Alger Hiss was guilty of thinking worse than perjury and has made full atonement. He conducts no harsh opinion of the conduct of J. Robert Oppenheimer and in inquiry it came out that Lloyd K. Garrison, a New York lawyer representing Oppenheimer, is related to Schieffelin by marriage. The skein is tangled, but the threads show that Garrison is a member of the law firm whose senior member, the late Randolph Paul, was chief counsel of the treasury under Morgenthau through most of the treacherous career of the master spy, Harry Dexter White. Felix Frankfurter, who got Hiss his first job in Washington and testified for him, recommended Garrison for general counsel of the treasury, but Garrison had made a remark that the Hitler-Stalin pact was not altogether bad and this heresy excluded him from that job at that time.

Reds' Action Abroad Seen Sign of Battle in Kremlin

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 29—What's going on inside the Kremlin? Nobody here really knows, but American intelligence sources can make some shrewd guesses.

There's a battle on. The struggle for leadership is between the former Stalin men and their opponents. Evidence of the conflict can be seen in the behavior of the Communist parties outside of Soviet Russia. Whoever still has these foreign instrumentalities of communism under control—and it looks like someone in the top ministry who handles foreign outlets of propaganda is in command—may have inspired the severest criticism of Khrushchev by the Communist groups outside Russia.

THE OUTCRY from the "Daily Worker" in New York, for example, and from Communist organs in other parts of the world is that the men in the Kremlin who stood by Stalin and didn't interfere with his cruelties are themselves to blame and must answer for their acquiescence in his crimes. It's really a political maneuver to get them out altogether.

Whenever dissension of such proportions goes on in any Cabinet, there is bound to be a slowing up of certain activities and a speeding up of others.

In the case of the Kremlin, the speed-up is on the foreign propaganda side. A desperate effort is being made to win new laurels in the Middle East and in Europe. The drive is on to push the American military forces out of their bases everywhere in Europe and Asia. It has already succeeded in Iceland. The movement has intensified in Morocco and North Africa generally, and trouble-making has been renewed by the Communists throughout Latin America. It looks as if the men in charge of the foreign office are seeking to establish a new prestige for domestic reasons.

Meanwhile, the infiltration policies which have been pursued with considerable vigor lately are making some headway and causing the Western powers concern in France as well as Italy.

It's a mixed-up situation for the United States and her Allies to analyze. For there is no certainty as to who is going to be on top next in the battle for supremacy inside the Kremlin. Whichever faction wins will be faced with internal weaknesses growing out of the fight itself.

THE NEW OUTBREAK of rioting just reported from Poland may or may not have been inspired by certain political strategists in Moscow but it looks as if the discipline usually exerted there over the satellite states has weakened lately. Hence, the people in Poland now are emboldened to take chances. Incidentally, it has always been assumed here that the overthrow of the government at Moscow would come about as a result of a revolt initiated throughout the satellite states. Then there have been some suggestions here and there that the entire course of events recently in Moscow has been artificially planned. But officials in Washington feel that the sensational speech by Khrushchev in February was forced on him as a maneuver in defense against his political opponents inside the Kremlin. It took many weeks for the text of that speech to leak out. The question is what happened in the interim.

WHAT HAS BEEN going on under the surface since the lines of battle between the pro-Stalin and anti-Stalin groups in the Kremlin were drawn? Certainly control of the Communist parties outside Soviet Russia is an important piece of influence for someone in the Kremlin to manipulate. Hence, the anti-Khrushchev propaganda let loose from New York and other centers carries special significance. The fact that the editorials from the outside organs of the Communist parties have just been reprinted in Moscow newspapers shows that whoever controls the press there wanted to use these same editorials as an influence inside the Soviet Union itself.

It's a desperate game, and perhaps soon the world will know more details as a purge of the higher-ups—maybe Khrushchev or Bulganin or both will go down—and the elevation of some new leader come to pass. Something is going on inside the Kremlin that means much to the outside world. Dictatorships work invisibly, and sometimes palace revolutions break out when the rival dictators cannot tolerate each other. It would seem that big events are in the offing.

Wheat Supply Improves

Washington, June 29 (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today the wheat supply situation in this country has improved. Wheat has been in excess supply for years. Wheat supplies have been steadily increasing since 1952. But prospects are that the trend has leveled off and the total on hand July 1 will be near that of a year ago. In addition, the department said, prospects are that there will be no increase a year from now.

Postal Payroll Is Done by Electronics

Washington, June 29 (AP)—The Post Office Department reported that as of today its entire 526,000-man payroll is on an electronically-controlled punch card system.

Postmaster General Summerfield, announcing completion of the 15-month job of mechanizing his department's payroll, called it a step toward "better postal service to our patrons at less cost."

At the same time, Summerfield said "absolutely no one" lost his job in the switchover to an electronic system. About two-thirds of the postal workers formerly on manual payroll duties have been transferred back to postal service, he said.

Summerfield said his department has the largest civilian payroll outside of General Motors Corp. and American Telephone and Telegraph Co. with their subsidiaries.

Raises Authorized For Special Posts

Washington, June 29 (AP)—The Civil Service Commission (CSC) today authorized raises of from $135 to $1,075 a year in the starting salaries of government engineers, scientists and some other types of specialists.

The increases, applying to middle-grade positions, are a major step under a law allowing higher payments where the federal government finds its existing salary scales are at a serious competitive disadvantage with those in private industry.

CSC said federal agencies believe they will be able to recruit 4,700 "badly needed personnel" with the higher pay. Counting some 30,000 present government workers who also would benefit, the salary hike would cost the government an estimated 12 million dollars a year. Affect salaries now range from $4,345 to $7,570 a year, CSC said.

Sitter—Don't plow it. When spring thaws comes the rocks rolling down the hill tear it up so that we can plant corn.

Bacheller—And how do you plant it?

The sitter said that he didn't plant it really. He stood in the back door and shot the seed in with a shotgun.

Bacheller—Is that the truth? Sitter (disgusted)—Heck no. That's conversation.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., June 29—The only way I have made money in the stock market has been by selling stocks and taking profits at times like this, depositing the money in banks, and waiting until the bottom of the next decline. When the market crash finally comes, I buy stocks.

In this way I am not a speculator, but am like the ice man in the North who gathers ice in wintry weather and stores it up for people to use during the summer. This same principle, in reverse, applies to those who can fruit and vegetables in summer when they are about to spoil. We all perform a real service and are entitled to be rewarded. We have the courage to sell stocks or buy fruit when others lack the courage to do so. People who go with the crowd make conditions worse. Those who go contrary to the crowd are in a position later to make conditions better when there is much unemployment, no new building and when commodities are selling below cost.

OTHERS MAKE MONEY in the stock market by performing another kind of service,—that is by helping new industries when they are unpopular and taking profits when these industries mature and are popular. Those who follow this second program have the additional advantage of diversification. They also always keep their money working, whereas, under my method, my money is idle about a third of the time. Buying into new industries each year and selling the stocks of a few maturing companies requires much research. Any investor who desires to follow such a program should be prepared to pay an investment Counselor for selecting these new industries. Furthermore, although General Motors, for instance, has been a "gold mine," yet there have been scores of other automobile companies which have gone bankrupt. It is necessary both to get into the right industry, and also to buy the stock of the right company within that industry.

ALTHOUGH SWAPPING maturing industries for new industries is exceedingly profitable when done intelligently, very few individuals or even institutions have the ability and courage to act on this principle. One college, however, has had a most interesting experience in this connection. I refer to Wisconsin University, which, on its typical Board of conservative college Trustees, had also some bright chemists and engineers. These younger men so failed in getting the conservative Board to adopt a more courageous investment policy that they formed a separate Trust, — The Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation. They got together seven men who contributed eighty dollars or so apiece, making a total $585 to start with on January 1, 1926. They increased this small sum by the purchase and sale of "Growth Stocks" so that, at the present time, this $585, with accumulated dividends and profits, amounts to over $17,000,000 with a market value on December 31, 1955, of $36,000,000. Approximately $6,000,000 received from Patents and Royalties they gave back to the University for new buildings and increased salaries. I might also give the names of individual clients which my organization has helped along these same lines. I could also cite a member of my family who during fifty years increased $600 to over $1,000,000 by putting the dividends and profits back into newer industries when they were unpopular and selling these when they became popular. Meanwhile the fund was kept well diversified with only a comparatively small amount in each industry, so risk was pretty well eliminated. All this required, however, considerable work as the entire fund was turned over probably once in ten years. In this case, no attention was given to general market conditions or to the investment cycle.

LET ME CLOSE with a story which one of my valuable associates, John D. Riordan, tells. It concerns a friend who had a nervous breakdown on account of his overactivity in the stock market. One day when the patient was lying on the couch and telling of his early life, the psychiatrist said, "I understand what got you into all this trouble. The first thing you seem to remember is your mother rocking you in the cradle and singing 'Bye lo, Bye lo, Baby.' You interpreted this to mean 'Buy low-Buy low!'"

Experts Play
Finesse Odds

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Most bridge players would say that the odds on a finesse are about even. Experts look for better odds and often get them, as we see in today's hand.

West opened the eight of diamonds, and dummy's ten lost to East's queen. East returned the jack of clubs, and West captured the queen with his ace. Another diamond went to dummy's ace, and South drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king.

Declarer next cashed the king of clubs, ruffed a club in dummy, and ruffed a low diamond in his own hand. He then led a trump, discarding a diamond from dummy.

East took the queen of hearts and led the king of diamonds, forcing South to use his last trump. Declarer now had three spades in each hand, and the contract depended on a finesse for the queen of spades.

West had discarded two low spades and one low club. It was clear that West's last cards were three spades and that East had two spades and the ten of clubs. This evidence had an important bearing on the spade finesse.

South knew that West had started with five spades and that East had started with only two spades. The odds were therefore 5 to 2 that West had the queen of spades. These odds were far better than the average player's even chance at a sheer guess. South finessed in the direction of the odds and made the game and rubber.

Safety Tip

When you disconnect an appliance cord, always disconnect it from the wall outlet first and then from the appliance. This helps reduce the hazard of small children putting the plug in their mouths when the line is carrying current.

from a man who made the change . . .

Dear Mr. Nelson,

I know that you'll be interested in these comparative figures, showing that after a year of using gas for heating and hot water, my overall cost has dropped $2.77 a month.

After nearly five years' aggravation, dirt, discomfort and trouble with another type of fuel, we appealed to you for your advice, which resulted in our switching to Natural Gas. The installation was not troublesome, and the results are gratifying.

We have had no breakdowns, or choked up flue piping. (Formerly a steady problem in our house.) Natural Gas heat is clean and dependable, just as your ads state.

Your estimate for the cost of electricity and gas under the new setup was $25 a month, but I was willing, and had expected to pay more for the convenience of Natural Gas.

As you see by my billing figures, our cost has averaged only $22.63 cents for a 12-month period.

Referring again to our old cost of $25.40 per month, this figure was for electricity and fuel only. It did not include the cost of frequent repairs and emergency cleaning of flues, not to forget the actually dangerous conditions we lived under here, prior to conversion.

Again, we want to thank you, Mr. Nelson, not only for giving us good advice, but for your expert supervision of installation, and for your continued service to us in such important matters as gas and electric supply. We are all grateful.

Irving R. Klein
Beacon, N. Y.

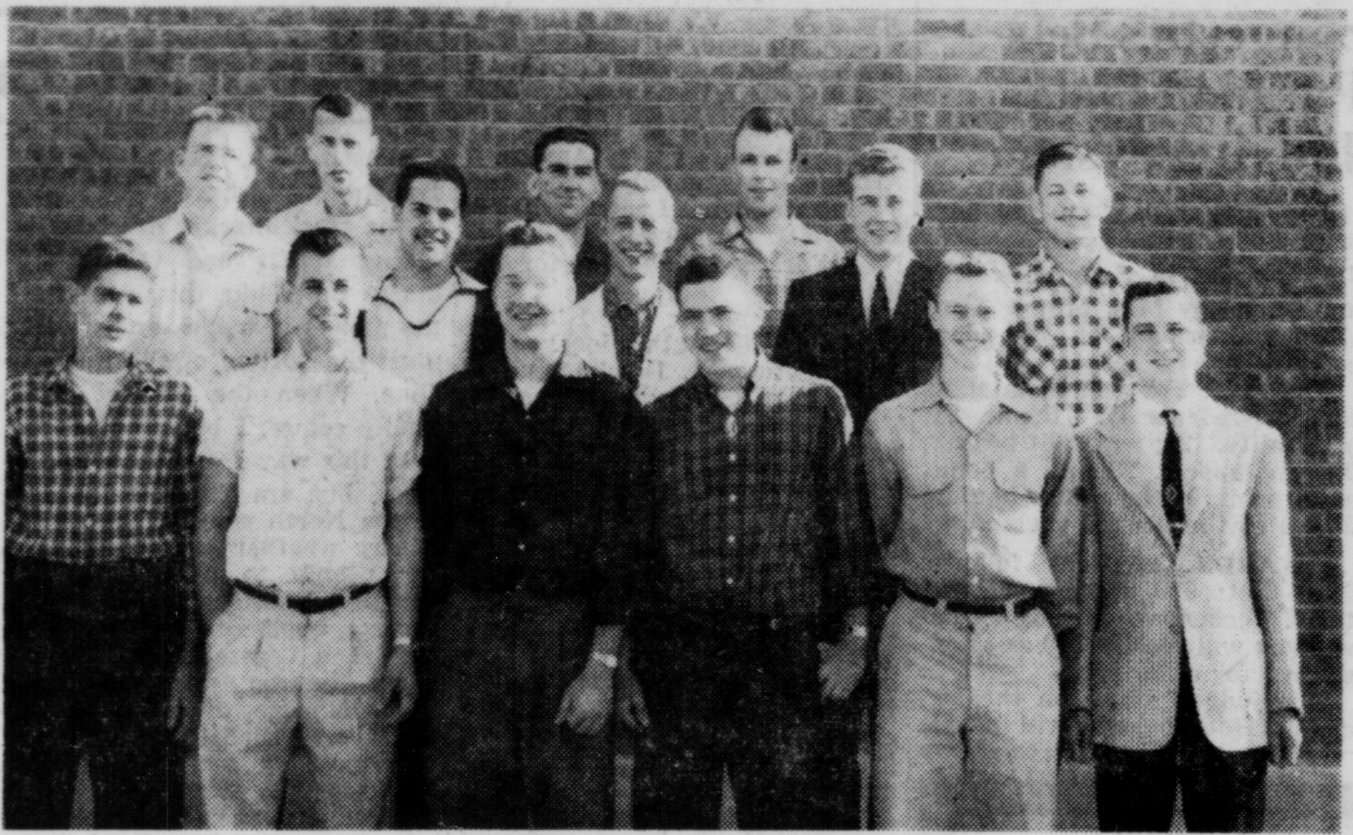

This unsolicited letter was sent to us by one of our more than 6000 satisfied Natural Gas house heat users. If you are considering replacement of your heating system, ask one of your neighbors who uses it, about Natural Gas heat.

Jaycees Select Kentucky Man as
New President

Kansas City, June 28 (AP)—A 31-year-old Owensboro, Ky., insurance man, Wendell H. Ford, was elected president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce last night.

Ford's election came on the 10th ballot at the concluding general session of the Jaycees' 36th annual meeting here. Balloting began at 3 p. m. and did not end until nearly midnight, following a long recess for dinner.

ON THE NINTH ballot Michael F. Maloney of Fayetteville, Ark., led with 1,434 votes, followed by Ford with 1,372 and Robert E. Cook of Springfield, Ill., with 228.

Cook's backers began to switch to Maloney on the 10th ballot but his home state, Illinois, passed its turn in order to caucus. Then Cook announced he was withdrawing from the race and Illinois cast its 159 votes for Ford. This started a landslide of vote changing and the final tabulation showed the Kentucky a unanimous winner.

COOK ADVANCED to the Jaycees' top office through the ranks of local and state offices. He was a national director. Active in the Civilian International, the National Guard, the American Legion, the Boy Scout organization and other civic fields as well as the Jaycees, he was named the outstanding young man of his community in 1954. In 1955 he was designated one of three outstanding young men in Kentucky. He is married and has two children.

Cook succeeds Hugh F. McKenna of Omaha, Neb., in the $15,000-a-year post. While he holds office he will live in the Jaycee White House at Tulsa, Okla., the organization's national headquarters.

Only meetings of the Jaycee board of directors and executive committee remained on the convention program today. By nightfall most of the more than 3,000 delegates were expected to be on their way home.

$19,964 Cancer Giving Is Record for Ulster County

Ulster county residents already have contributed approximately $19,964 for a record-breaking amount to the local cancer crusade, according to local officials.

The amount represents 98 per cent of the county's quota of $21,700 and according to Charles M. Rinschler, county campaign chairman, "the results are truly gratifying and are a compliment to the residents of our county."

Three or four areas are still to be heard from, a cancer spokesman said today, indicating that the possibility was good that Ulster county will go over its 1956 quota. The current campaign will definitely close Aug. 31.

The following breakdown of receipts from various townships throughout the county represents an earlier report when contributions totaled $15,651.83: Additional contributions will be announced:

Hearing Continues In Water Cases

Continued Thursday before Official Referee Christopher J. Heffernan at the court house was the trial of actions brought by residents along the lower Plattekill creek, town of Saugerties, for damages which they allege are caused by the village of Saugerties taking water from the creek at the Blue Mountain reservoir.

E. J. McCaffrey, consulting engineer for certain phases of the water works development, was questioned Thursday at length. Referee Heffernan announced he would continue the actions today and then recess the proceedings until some date to be set, perhaps in September.

Morris Rosenblum with John E. Egan of counsel appear for approximately 50 claimants and Robert Carrington and N. LeVan Haver appear for the village.

Teenager Case Put Off Until July 6

The case of seven teenagers who were arrested June 17 on disorderly conduct charges was adjourned until Friday, July 6, when they appeared in City Court today. The case was put over to permit the hearing of another case scheduled in court today.

Arrested when they allegedly refused to move from the Broadway underpass area on order of policemen were:

William Hofbauer, 16, of 51 Summer street.

Robert Liebel, 16, and Dennis Liebel, 17, of 162 Washington avenue.

Roy Spence, 16, of 180 Henry street.

Joseph Guinta, 17, of 77 West Pierpoint street.

William O'Connor, 17, of Hasbrouck avenue.

They all pleaded innocent before City Judge Raymond J. Mino on June 19. Attorney Charles J. Saccoman appeared for the group and Attorney Joseph Toraca represented the district attorney's office in court today.

Fewer Homes Vacant

Washington, June 29 (AP)—Vacancies have declined, for the first time in three years, in rental apartment projects insured by the Federal Housing Administration, FHA announced today. FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason said the new report, covering 520,000 dwelling units in all parts of the country "suggests strongly there is no widespread surplus situation." The vacancy rate as of April 1 had dropped to 3.2 per cent, Mason said. The rate last year was 4.4 per cent and in 1954, 3.5 per cent. The showing "demonstrates the need for a sustained level of home building activity," Mason said.

Mrs. DeFren wore a band of white daisies and carnations in her hair and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, daisies and carnations.

Bridesmaids included Mrs. Robert Nichol of Syracuse, Miss Gloria Rubin, Mt. Vernon, Miss Elaine Solomon and Miss Phyllis Weiner of Kingston. Their gowns were styled identically as that of the honor attendant. They wore bands of lilac daisies and carnations in their hair and carried nosegays of lilac, pink and white daisies and carnations. Flower girl was Miss Andrea Ruzansky of Hartford, Conn., the bridegroom's niece, and Miss Arlene Schack of Union, N. J. Miss Schack is a cousin of the bride. The girls wore pink organza dresses fashioned with bertha collars, net aprons and cummerbunds. They carried baskets of pink, white and lilac petals.

President Signs U. S. Highway Bill

Washington, June 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed the 33 billion dollar highway construction bill, setting in motion the government's biggest peacetime spending program.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty in announcing the signing said the President "was highly pleased."

The funds provided by the bill are designed to give the nation a 41,000-mile system of super-highways linking every state with fully modern, controlled access roads, mostly of four lanes or more.

But well before the new highways are built, motorists will feel the effect of new taxes to help pay for them. These take effect Sunday. The biggest money raiser is a one cent boost in the federal gasoline tax to three cents a gallon.

It probably will be the summer of 1958 before any appreciable mileage of the new highways is completed.

THE COUNTY AGREED at that time to institute prevailing wage rates as established by the State Department of Labor.

The case is also of interest in this area because a similar case is pending against the Kingston Board of Education.

The Carpenters Union charges that the local board is in violation of Sect. 220 of Art. 8 in the matter of construction last summer on School 8. The case will be heard this fall by the Court of Appeals.

The Columbia County Board of Supervisors has called a meeting for Monday night to discuss the situation.

VISITING BROTHER'S HOUSE UNINVITED

A letter tells me: "We live on the first floor of a two-family house. My husband's brother and his wife live on the second floor. Whenever relatives come to visit them, my husband wants to go upstairs and join them even though we have not been asked to do so. I don't think we should barge in on them when they have company. My husband thinks I am much too stiff and formal and doesn't see why we need a special invitation to go up to his brother's apartment. We have had many arguments

Although strictly speaking, you are right, I think this matter is one to be decided by your husband and his brother.

Sending Birth Announcements
Dear Mrs. Post: A group of friends were discussing the sending of birth announcements to friends who had been invited to a stork shower. Some of them said it was perfectly proper to send them and others said it was a hint for another present and did not think it proper to send them to those who gave presents at the shower. I would appreciate knowing what is correct in this situation.

Answer: You send birth announcements to all who you think will be interested whether or not they were at the shower.

When Asked To Take Sides
Dear Mrs. Post: How can I tactfully get out of taking sides when in the presence of two friends who are having an argument and I am asked who I think is right. I don't like to get involved in other people's disagreements, but what can I say when I am asked point blank to give my opinion.

Answer: Just say, "I refuse to take sides; you'll have to settle it yourselves"—and stick to it.

Are you planning to have a simple shower for a friend or bride-to-be? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-13, "Let's Give a Shower," will help you. Check of Bank Window Causes Robbery Scare

Five policemen converged on the Kingston Trust Co., 27 Main street, early Thursday evening when three passersby mistakenly identified an uptown night watchman who was attempting to lock a window on the building.

THE ROBBERY scare was started when three women reported to Officers Gilbert Gray and William Snyder that "a man was attempting to enter the Kingston Trust Co. through a window on the Fair street side of the building with a cane."

The policemen together with Officers Carlo Perry, William Slover and Joseph Keller were dispatched and a check of the building "showed everything secure."

ONE of the women, meanwhile, telephoned police headquarters and gave a description of the man which headquarters believed, fitted James W. Cave, of 9 Joy's lane, a special policeman who is assigned to the uptown business section as a night watchman.

Mr. Cave told police he saw an open window on the building, couldn't reach it with his cane, and received assistance "from another lad" whom he helped into the building and who locked the window.

The report added that he came out a door with Mr. Cave's key.

The report was received at 8:32 p. m.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

WITH BOTH EYES OPEN
BY PAUL HYDE BONNER

This is a brief novel in which romance, sport and mystery are cleverly blended by the author of "S. P. Q. R.", "Hotel Talleyrand" and others. Anthony Gaylor, an American consulting engineer, bewildered and grief-stricken by the sudden death of his beloved wife, Emily, his constant companion (even when he went game shooting) for more than 20 years, tries to, in some measure, fill in the void caused by his loss, by going to Scotland and leasing a "rough shoot" for the season from Lady Carter-Owen, owner of Corsewell House, and herself a recent widow. This he does through her agent in London.

The contract includes the services of the Corsewell House gamekeeper, McFie, who tells Anthony what a bonny little lady his employer is and intimates that she would be a fine shooting companion. Anthony has no intention of either trying to meet Lady Carter-Owen or of asking her to shoot with him. But after a chance circumstance he does both, and continues the relationship until he finds that he is rapidly falling in love with this other Emily, who is so beautiful and engaging that the new Emily almost wipes out the memory of the old one.

HE EVEN GOES so far as to accept her invitation to be her guest at Corsewell House for the remainder of the season and soon after his return to America in January arranges for her to follow him, ostensibly to visit her daughter, Letitia, and son-in-law in Connecticut and to see her new grandson, Darien. When Anthony entertains Letitia and her husband at dinner soon after his return from Scotland he has his eye opened by their avowed suspicions about the death of Lady Carter-Owen's two husbands. The first (Letitia's father) sailed away in his small boat and never returned. He was supposed to have drowned. The second shot himself, presumably accidentally. The son-in-law made no secret of his antipathy to Lady Owen. Letitia shielded her mother positively. The party ended with a husband and wife quarrel. The effect that this had upon Anthony was that it was then that he sent the plane ticket to Lady Owen. Opposition served only to strengthen his resolve. The mesh of enchantment was well woven.

LADY OWEN accepts Anthony's invitation promptly and after visiting her daughter joins him at the home of an old friend of Anthony's in South Carolina for the partridge shooting. She amazes the game attendants with her faultless shots. Another accidental death occurs next day at the hostess's home. This time it is another guest and an old suitor of Lady Owen. At dinner he talks at length about the sudden death of the two husbands. Afterward he sat up late with Lady Owen. Next morning he was found dead in bed with an empty medicine glass beside him. Heart attack, according to the examining physician.

In spite of these mysteries, Lady Owen remains aloof and completely unmoved. The hostess, and later Letitia warn Anthony of the threat which further complications with Lady Owen poses. But Anthony seems to be completely enthralled by this lovely, fragile new Emily and the book closes with the outcome unresolved but quite clearly indicated.

Futures at Stake

Indianapolis, June 29 (AP)—Future political prospects for Sen. William E. Jenner and Gov. George N. Craig were at stake today as Indiana's faction-torn Republicans assembled for their biennial state convention. Craig is barred by the state constitution from succeeding himself as governor, and Jenner's term in the Senate has two more years to run. But both have a vital interest in the convention's selection of delegates to the national convention and candidates for statewide office and the U. S. Senate.

The umpiring situation in junior baseball circles in the area is on the alarming side.

Certainly, there must be enough able-bodied ex-ball players or athletes willing to devote a couple of hours a week to umpiring a Little League or Fraternal Youth League.

The situation in the FYL was particularly disturbing the first two nights. Men who promised to officiate reneged at the last minute, leaving the FYL without an umpire on opening night. As a result the opener was delayed more than one half hour.

Although we can rightfully claim much progress in the development of small fry baseball in Kingston and environs, our record in the voluntary umpiring department is apathetic.

Things got to the point last year where a Little League actually paid men to umpire. This is an incredible situation and doesn't happen anywhere else in the country. If you have the time, we'd like to see you volunteer to umpire in the FYL or Little Leagues. You would be helping to alleviate a condition that makes our whole small fry baseball setup look rather shabby to folks on the outside.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

The 1956 American Bowling Congress singles championship was won by a left-hander for the second year in a row, George Wade, 33, rolled 744 on games of 238, 247 and 239. Last year's winner was Eddie Gerene of Milwaukee, with 738. You have to go all the way back to 1907 to find another portside winner—Marshall Levy of Indianapolis with 624. . . . Kingston Police and VFW marshalling their forces for July 26 meeting at Dietz Stadium. . . . Manager Toots Senor of VFW says he will use only World War I veterans. . . . Two nights later Turk Karam brings the 1956 edition of Brooklyn Dodgers into Dietz Stadium for the annual battle with the Fraternal Youth League Stars. . . . Charlie Getz of the New York Giants promotion staff meets with local committee on July 9 to set up the Hudson Valley Day at the Polo Grounds.

Of Men and Mice:

Friends of Barney Karney of Dunn street are claiming an all-time carp record catch for the well-known fisherman. Karney hauled a 56-pound monster out of the Rondout with hook and line this week. Karney is employed as a truck driver for Callanan Road Improvement. . . . There are 16 club representatives in the Major League Baseball Players Assn., with Bob Feller heading the American League group and Robin Roberts the National. The representatives are elected in clubhouse meetings, with an eye to vocal coherence, enthusiasm for the players' causes, sympathy with the notion that the players need a lawyer and pension plan consciousness. The delegates are not necessarily clubhouse lawyers. The Yankee representative, for example, is Jerry Coleman, the jet flier from Korea. He is a moderate, a real conservative, eager for quiet and negotiation on peaceable terms. Hank Bauer, the Marine, is his alternate. The representative of the Dodgers is Carl Erskine, a guy who never says much. Gil Hodges is the standin. Don Mueller, a solid citizen, represents the Giants.

The Poughkeepsie Elks, who move into Dietz Stadium Saturday night against the Colonials, might easily be the best semi-pro team in the area since the pre-war period. . . . Approaching the 1000-win mark at which point nobody in Poughkeepsie can deny him a long deserved testimonial, Coach Sam Kalloch has compiled the remarkable record of 317 wins and 107 defeats in baseball; 135 wins, 68 defeats and 10 ties in football; 427 wins and 140 defeats in basketball. That adds up to 879 victories and 315 losses in major sports. He also picked up 36 wins in track, a declining sport at the school in recent years; 36 in tennis and one in golf. Poughkeepsie has been voted into Section 9 for post-season purposes and next year Sam will lead the Pioneers in their first inter-sectional competition since 1928. . . . A woman golf pro was explaining why their male counterparts have it soft, says Murray Oldeman: "They can relax after a day on the course. We still have to set our hair and polish our nails and wash our clothes. . . . and even Ol' Moneybags (Patty Berg) still shines her own shoes like the rest of us. . . . Show me a man who does that." Lady, we just can't.

Wiffi Smith Leads Janssen In British Amateur Finals

Sunningdale, England, June 29 (AP)—Margaret (Wiffi) Smith, a muscular, tomboyish redhead from St. Clair, Mich., took a two-up lead over Mary Patton Janssen of Charlottesville, Va., today in the first 18-holes of the first All-American final in the history of the British Women's Amateur golf championship.

The second 18-hole round will be played this afternoon, starting at 8 a. m. (EST).

After encountering trouble at the start because of rain-soaked putting greens, Miss Smith recovered and shot even par golf on the second nine over her 6-002-yard, par 36-36-72 Sunningdale course.

MISS JANSSEN, a virtually unknown golfer outside the United States until she began upsetting favorites here this week refused to yield even though she also had putting trouble. She took the lead at the tenth hole, lost the next three, and then won two of the last three after going three down at the 15th.

Miss Janssen had a score of 41-39-80, eight strokes over par. Miss Smith, who picked up

Chuck Engle as a slinger and he responded with a nifty three-hit job as the Brewmasters whipped Ellenville, 5 to 3.

It was Dobler's first win naturally, in four decisions and the fifth straight setback for Ellenville.

ENGLE known primarily as a heavy hitting outfielder in recent years, lost his shutout because of three unearned runs in the fifth.

He whiffed seven and walked four.

Mickey Sweeney yielded only five hits to Doblers but three were triples, a couple by Joey

Hoffman, one by Bill Chase. He fanned four and walked the same number.

Jersey Legion Tossers Play Albany at Stadium

Argonne Post 6 American Legion Junior baseball team which meets Voorhesville Post of Albany county tonight at Dietz Stadium, has won 11 Union county championships in New Jersey since 1937.

The New Jersey club has been a state finalist three times.

Voorhesville captured the Albany county crown in 1953 and lost to Kingston Post in the Third District final, 1-0, in extra innings.

THE CONTEST will start at 7 o'clock and finish under the lights.

Twenty six of the Argonne graduates have signed professional contracts and about as many have gone into college ball.

Among the team's alumni are Stevan J. Berick, Democratic candidate for mayor of Elizabeth; Edward Donovan, new basketball coach at St. Bonaventure and general manager of Olean in the Pony League; Al Flood, who is on District Attorney Frank Hogan's special detective staff in New York and many others.

ED (BUZZY) FOX, who coached Argonne to State finals in 1949, to state and regional titles and runner-up in Eastern finals in 1953, and to state finals again in 1954, was the littles boy on the first Argonne team, back in 1937.

Hiss successor, the present coach, Fred Burk, was Argonne's third baseman and shotout in 1946 and later was a Red Sox farmhand.

This is Burk's first year; his

Five Redlegs Starters In Annual All-Star Game

By JACK HAND

New York, June 29 (AP)—It will be Cincinnati against the American League in the All-Star game at Washington, July 10, with five Redlegs in the starting lineup.

Three more Cincinnati players, all handy with the home run bat, finished second in the final balloting as the fans decreed a complete turnover in the 1955 National League starting team.

FIRST BASEMAN Dale Long of Pittsburgh, third baseman Ken Boyer of St. Louis and right fielder Stan Musial of St. Louis were the only men capable of breaking Cincinnati's lock on the starting jobs. In each case the runnerup was a Redleg—Ted Kluszewski at first, Ray Jablonski at third and Wally Post in right.

Johnny Temple and Roy McMillan, Cincy's classy second base-shortstop combination, won starting jobs. So did rookie Frank Robinson in left, Ray Bell in center and Ed Bailey as catcher.

This starting array had contributed 95 home runs in 63 games as compared to a total of 71 by the Americans.

DESPITE THIS tremendous push by Cincinnati, top honors in total votes went to Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees' threat to Babe Ruth's home run record. Mantle polled 206,524 with catcher Yogi Berra. A Yankee teammate, second with 191,146 votes.

Final totals were announced yesterday by the office of Commissioner Ford Frick after fan polls by newspapers, radio and television stations.

American League fans returned almost the entire 1955 ticket intact. The only starter who failed to win again was Jim Finigan, Kansas City third baseman who hasn't been playing regularly.

MANTLE AND Berra are the only representatives of the leading Yankees. Boston has two, Mickey Vernon on first base and Ted Williams in left, and Detroit also placed a pair—right-fielder Al Kaline and shortstop Harvey Kuenn. Other American starters are second baseman Nellie Fox of Chicago and third baseman George Kell of Baltimore.

Under All-Star rules, the players picked by the fans must start and play at least three innings unless injured. The pitchers and other members of the 25-man squads will be named by Managers Casey Stengel of the American and Walter Alston of the National next Monday.

PITCHING

Virgil Trucks, Tigers—won his third with a six-hitter, giving up three singles in one frame but bearing down to preserve his 4-0 shutout over the Athletics to break an 11-game non-winning streak for the Tigers.

HITTING

Smokey Burgess, Redlegs—unloaded a three-run homer, his fifth and Cincinnati's 100th of the season, to cap a four-run eighth inning that beat the Pirates 4-3 and hoisted the Redlegs to within six points of the league lead.

Miss Janssen won the 18th, where both were bunkered and was two down at the end of the morning round. Mary Pat blasted out dead to the pin for her par four while Wiffi's explosion left her an eight-footer, which she missed.

The Brooklyn Dodgers used more baseballs in 1956 — well over 12,000 — than the entire National League used in 1876, its first year.

Volunteer Firemen Overwhelm Kiwanis, 11-3, in FYL Duel

10-Hit Attack Backs Strong Hurling of Short

The first meeting of the season of the 1955 co-champions of the Fraternal Youth League turned out to be a one-sided affair as the Volunteer Firemen scored plenty and often to overwhelm the Kiwanis, 11-3, last night at Dietz Stadium.

With both teams boasting many veterans, including talent from this year's Kingston High School varsity and jayvee teams, the game was billed as the first battle of the loop's titans. On the strength of last evening's performance, it appears that the Vols are as powerful as last year and that the Kiwanis must do some catching up to keep pace with their co-titlist.

The Vols got a strong early season performance from right-hander Bob Short who restricted the Kiwanians to six well-spaced hits. Only in the middle innings, fourth and fifth, did Short incur trouble and most of it wasn't of his own doing.

The Kiwanis got a legitimate run in the fourth on a walk, hurler Bill Thomas' single and a sacrifice fly by Jay Van Loan. With the score 10-1 in the fifth, they added their final pair, both unearned, on two errors by catcher Jim Cullum after a fielder's choice and Joe Schrowang's single.

Legion vs. K of C.
The Vols opened a four-run gap in the second off Thomas who was derailed for Hobie Armstrong in the center of a fifth frame rally. Charlie Boice started things with a hit and then came a pair of walks and back-to-back hits by Cullum and Mike Carpio, the latter hits driving in the runs.

CULLUM SCORED an unearned run in the fourth as the Firemen went ahead 5-0. Eleven batters paraded to the plate in the fifth as the Vols locked up the game with five runs. Four singles highlighted the inning and chased Thomas. Armstrong relieved and got the final two outs.

Carpino, who was the game's hitting star, got his third hit and scored the Vols' final run in the seventh on Dick Derrenbacher's one-baser. These two lads were making their debut in the FYL and enjoyed a banner night, accounting for half their team's total of hits.

Action resumes Monday night with the Knights of Columbus facing the American Legion.

Shows No Mercy

Miss Brough Outshining Althea at Wimbledon

By NATE POLOWETZKY

Wimbledon, England, June 29

(AP)—All this talk about Althea Gibson's hot stretch of tennis carrying her to the women's title at ivy-draped Wimbledon apparently set off at least one reaction.

Veteran Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., defending women's champion and a four-time Wimbledon winner in her long career, has been showing a marked reluctance to give up her title.

WHILE MISS Gibson, the New York Negro attempting to become the first of her race to win here, had a close escape from defeat yesterday with Britain's Ann Shilcock, Miss Brough blasted away at Jennifer Mid-dleton as if her life depended on it.

The scores were 6-0, 6-4 and for the second straight day, some of the British spectators and press criticized Miss Brough for her ruthlessness against an outclassed opponent.

In the second round, Louise overpowered popular 16-year-old Jean Forbes of South Africa, 6-0, 6-0, failing to ease up even after Miss Forbes was hobbled by a knee injury in the first set.

"Queen Louise shows no mercy," said a headline in one London newspaper.

A FEW OF the lady spectators, openly rooting for Miss Forbes after she was hurt, referred to Miss Brough as "a beast."

Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., reigning queen of tennis before her accident, said Miss Brough was right in refusing to let up.

Miss Gibson, winner of 18 tournaments on her current tour, has had to struggle so far. She was on the edge of defeat yesterday before Miss Shilcock blew up and virtually handed her the match. The scores were 4-6, 6-2, 6-1.

There were slim pickings in the tournament today, with top-seeded Lew Hoad of Australia meeting countryman John O'Brien in the only match involving a seeded player in the men's singles.

Gori, MacCracken Vie for Spot in Net Semi-Finals

Hackensack, N. J., June 29 (AP)

—Fourth-seeded Renato Gori of Elmhurst, N. Y., and eighth ranking Cal MacCracken of Tenafly meet tonight to decide the last quarter-final match in the Eastern Clay Courts singles tennis championship.

The winner will join defending champion Eddie Moylan of Trenton, second seeded Sid Schwartz of Long Beach, N. Y., and Lt. Cliff Mayne of Ft. Monmouth in Saturday's semi-finals.

Schwartz, who ranks 11th in the nation, was stretched to three sets in defeating 18-year-old Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., in yesterday's quarter-finals at the Orin Field Club here, 3-6, 7-5, 6-2.

Moylan had an easy 6-1, 6-2 win over Bob Green of Duke University and Mayne beat his former University of California doubles partner Lt. Bill Demas, Quantico, Va., 6-4, 6-0.

Cubs' Minner Lost for Season

Chicago, June 28 (AP) — Paul Minner, lefthanded pitcher for the Chicago Cubs, will be in a plaster cast for three or four months because of a neck fracture suffered in a bathtub ten days ago.

Whether the career of the 32-year-old Minner has ended as a result of his accident in New York was conjectural, but an X-ray examination today disclosed Minner has a fracture of the second vertebra in his neck.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By JOE STETSON
Dog Editor

"Fleas all over the place," moaned Jack Leonard. "Walk across the yard with a pair of white ducks and they'll be black to the knees."

Jack was complaining about a situation that can be quite common in warm weather, especially in sandy areas and where there are dogs to act as hosts to a flea breeding program.

"No use fleeing the dog," continued Jack. "No sooner is he rid of fleas than they're swarming over him again three minutes after I let him out."

The trouble really started because Jack didn't start with a flealess dog. Let fleas get started and they breed, lay eggs and spread all over the place. It is best to prevent the wholesale propagation by keeping the dog flea free the beginning.

But what to do now?

A GOOD DDT spray will do the trick. Don't spray the dog, but spray his quarters carefully. Allow his box or crate to air before letting him in. The dog will pick up the fleas, but they cannot survive the DDT they will contact in the nest box. My experience has been that all outside fleas have disappeared when the dog's quarters were well treated.

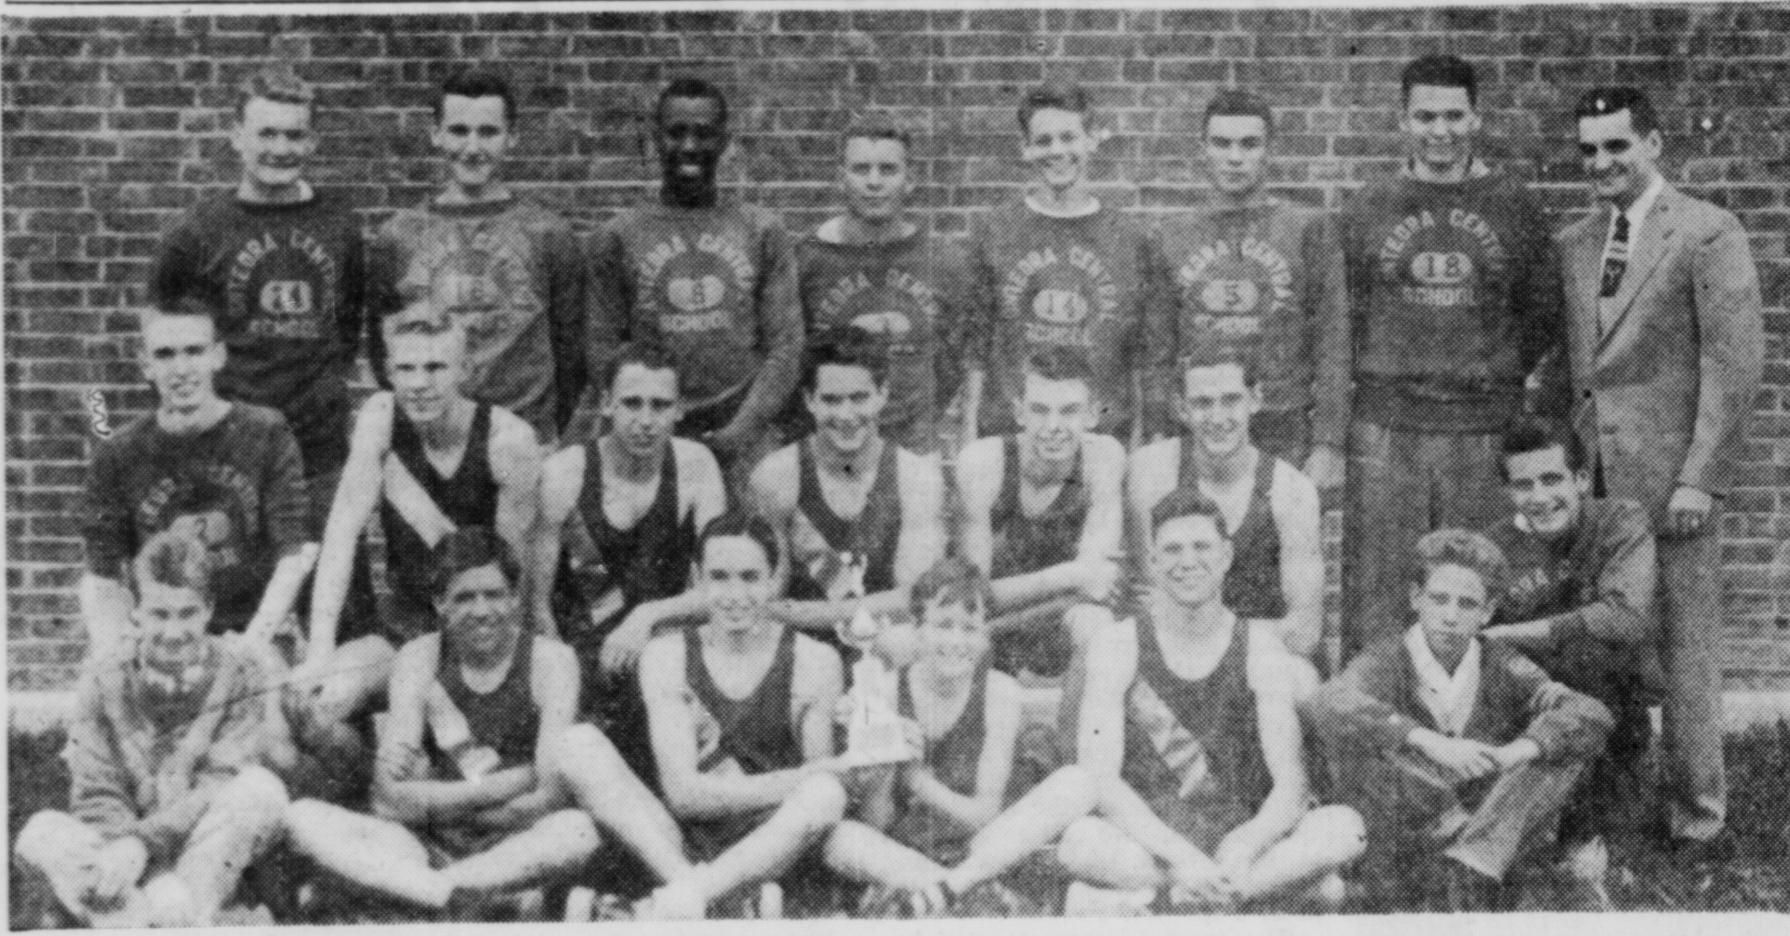

Jack's problem can be solved, but the best bet is to prevent the situation from ever developing.

Colonial Cabinets Register Upset Over Legion, 15 to 10

Colonial Cabinet caught American Legion on the rebound from their brilliant victory in the first round to drub the champions, 15-10, in yesterday's opener of the second half in the Recreation Softball League.

Don Slater and Jim Benincase powered homers to pace Colonials' 16-hit assault on Don Wolf. The Legion picked up 14 hits off Vince Carpino and there was a rash of extra base blows on both sides.

TRAILING 6-0 at the end of two innings, the Cabinets scored in each of the last five innings, starting with seven in the third. Lou DeCicco stroked three singles and Vince Carpino smashed a double and two singles for Colonials. Andy Murphy doubled twice and singled. George Haddy and Jerry Kaplan hit two singles and a triple.

Vince Hart slugged a single, double and homer in the cleanup spot as Rapp's Express outlasted S&C Lunch, 12 to 9, on Mort Gazlay's 10-hitter.

RAPPS collected 19 hits off Sam Mazzucca. Gazlay helped himself with a double and two singles. Jim Lawson and Charlie Marable bashed three singles. V. Perry topped S&C with a single and double.

Harry Van Wagenen pitched shutout ball after the second inning and contributed three hits to pitch Cedar Rest to a 9-5 victory over Lincoln Park Inn.

Van Wagenen allowed 10 hits. The Cedars raked Walt Bigler for 14. Mike Provenzano duplicated Van Wagenen's feat of a double and two singles.

Braves vs. Tigers.

Bill Boice fired a no-hitter as the Shults Paint Co. Indians captured the first half championship in the National Little League last night, downing the Hiltnerbrant Dry Dock Co. Pirates, 8-0. It was the eighth straight win for the unbeaten Tribe and the cellar-dwelling Buys seventh setback against one win.

Boice is the second Tribe flinger to toss a no-hitter. Earlier Bill Murphy turned the trick. Boice struck out 12 and walked only one. He got brilliant support affid, particularly from Murphy who was playing shortstop.

Murphy and Joe Cavano sparked the hitting attack with doubles. Murphy also singled once while Cavano slapped two other safeties.

Horace Walker and Roy Hatcher gave up eight blows with Walker the loser. Together they struck out nine and walked 10.

Tuesday's Game

Braves vs. Dodgers at East Kingston

The Yankees strengthened their hold on second place in the Glasco-East Kingston Little League by beating the Giants last night at Glasco, 9-7. It was the Bombers fourth win in seven games and the Giants fifth loss against two wins.

Bob Gallo went the distance for the Yanks, giving six hits, striking out 12 and passing six. Jim Davide was the loser, yielding one more hit than Gallo, fanning 13 and passing six.

Davide was victimized by some loose play by his mates and lost the game in the sixth when the Yanks broke loose for three runs to wrap up the decision. The Giants made a serious bid in their last turn at bat scoring three times before Gallo choked off the rally.

Gallo knocked in three runs to help his own cause. Jim Nardi and Charlie Sangaline doubled for the winners and Lou Spada tripled. Davide, Joe Palumbo and Dick Mormile spiked two-baggers for the losers and Gerald Rea a three-baser.

THIS COMPUTER OPERATING CONSOLE contains the controls for operating the computer. It displays the operating status of the equipment to personnel who monitor the computer's operation.

THE AN/FQ-7 CONTAINS magnetic drums with a total capacity of millions of bits. All information which is processed through the machine is stored on the drums which act as a high-speed buffer storage. The frame in the rear is the selection control frame. The electronics of this frame will keep track of and control the operations of all of the inputs and outputs of the machine.

IBM Will Build New Laboratory

teries, and jet interceptors. In the case of the intercepting jets, the aircraft is controlled by directions fed by radio directly from the computer to the automatic pilot in the plane. Missiles are controlled similarly. At any time, the air battle commander can have the computer display the over-all air situation or whatever part of it he wishes to monitor in detail. As the battle moves, information is transferred spontaneously to an adjacent computer.

The SAGE computer built by IBM incorporates the most advanced electronic components. One of these is a high-speed magnetic core memory. The memory is made up of thousands of tiny, doughnut-shaped cores. Several cores in a row store a single word or number, and the identity of which is determined code fashion according to whether or not individual cores in the row are magnetized. Data may be "read" into or out of this memory in millionths of a second, almost immeasurably faster than the speed of a hostile jet bomber, the computer also makes considerable use of such new and economical developments as printed wiring and miniaturized components. Many automated and semiautomatic manufacturing techniques are used throughout.

The AN/FQ-7 is designed to operate 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Facilities are provided so that preventive maintenance can be performed on the machine while SAGE data continues to be processed. The equipment going to McGuire is the first production computer. Engineering models of the computer have been installed for several months at Kingston and at the Lincoln Laboratory of Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Lexington, Mass., where the system is being tested.

Included among other contributors to the SAGE system are Western Electric Co. and Bell Telephone Laboratories of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Rand Corp. of Santa Monica, Calif. The SAGE system was developed by scientists and engineers at MIT's Lincoln Laboratory under contract with the Air Force. This program is being implemented through the joint efforts of the USAF Air Materiel, Air Research and Development, and Air Defense Commands.

Phoenicia

Phoenicia, June 29—Ann and Elizabeth Gormley, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gormley Jr., were among the graduates from the Academy of St. Ursula, Kingston.

The buffet supper of the Area Chamber of Commerce held in the parish hall was largely attended. Mrs. A. Perry Loomis celebrated her 90th birthday recently. A supper was given by her grandchildren, Kay Loomis and Jacquelin Loomis Finch. The Rebekah Lodge gave her a gift and she received many gifts from individual lodge members. She received scores of birthday cards from all over including from friends in the town of Olive.

Emmett Witte of New York spent his vacation with his family here.

Norman Studer announced that he will open Camp Woodland July 1.

Mrs. Rawson is home from Margaretville Hospital.

The Fourth of July celebration will be held at the Simpson Ski Slope Saturday evening.

Magistrates Are Urged to Attend Training Program

Enrollment for the magistrates training program which will begin next September, was urged at a meeting of the Ulster County Magistrates Association Thursday night at the Court House. The meeting was well attended and an educational film "A Day in Court" was shown. This film showed the activities of a court, disposition of traffic cases and other cases. There was a discussion on the "Justices Training Program" which will start September 6 at the Kingston Vocational School. The sessions will be held for 10 consecutive nights, each Thursday at 7 o'clock and will be of three hour duration. All justices of the peace and any former justice who is desirous of attending may enroll.

Pottsville, Pa. (AP)—Even the court was surprised but took the situation in hand when Bernard Dusky, 29, of nearby Mahanoy City, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing left shoes while drunk. Dusky told Schuylkill County Court he didn't know why he took only the left shoes from a store window and burned them but admitted it only happened when he was drunk. Judge Charles W. Staudenmeier ordered the man to undergo a mental examination.

SCHOOL BUDGET

25 Van Deusen St.
Kingston, N. Y.
June 28, 1956

Editor, The Freeman,
Tonight, at the regular meeting the Kingston Men's Democratic Club the organization went on record as opposing the premeditated action of the Kingston Board of Education in holding a public hearing on a proposed tax rate which was $3.80 less than the rate published in tonight's paper.

It is difficult to conceive that the Board of Education could, on such short notice, make a qualified decision on such an important project as this new junior high school. The taxpayers of the City of Kingston are equally concerned with this budget as with the budget aired two weeks ago. This proposed increase should be the subject of another public hearing.
